MUST AMERICAN YOUTH BE TAUGHT THAT COMMUNISM AND SOCIALISM ARE SUPERIOR TO AMERICANISM?

The Answer of the NATIONAL COUNCIL FOR AMERICAN EDUCATION is NO!

This Leaflet contains answers to 17 other questions about the aims, purposes and program of the Council.

THE THINGS YOU WANT TO KNOW ABOUT THE NATIONAL COUNCIL FOR AMERICAN EDUCATION

What are the purposes of the Council?

Briefly stated, its purposes are to eradicate Socialism, Communism and all forms of Marxism from the schools and colleges of America, and to stimulate sound, American education.

Who is behind NCAE?

A group of the nation's outstanding patriotic leaders, many of whom are among the officers and governors (see opposite page).

You will enjoy your association with these outstanding Americans and with the other real patriots who are members of the Council.

When was the Council formed?

The Council was founded in Trenton, N. J., in May, 1946. It was subsequently incorporated in New Jersey as a non-profit membership corporation. After painstaking preparation and exhaustive research on textbooks, scholastic organizations and educational personnel, offices were opened in May, 1948, at which time the organization started functioning actively.

Who supports the National Council?

It is supported entirely by the membership dues and contributions of patriotic citizens and companies. It has no financial "angels." Most of the gifts are of modest size. Few have given more than $1,000; only one person has given more than $2,000. (This is one of the vice presidents, a man of very modest means, who has also contributed thousands of hours of work.)

Is there a need for the Council?

The NCAE fills a very great and long-felt need, for the schools and colleges are the most crucial sector in the battle to preserve American liberty. It is in the schools and colleges that the youth of America are set upon their life's course, either the road to Freedom or the road to Serfdom. It is here that the minds of our future citizens are trained in sound Americanism or warped toward Socialism.

For a generation, your tax money has helped pay the salaries of many propagandist-teachers who have been endeavoring to make Socialists, or worse, out of America's youth; attempting to rob them of their self-reliance and substituting dependence on the government, on doles, on subsidies; seeking to ensnare them with the false doctrine that it is better to have statism than liberty; undermining the Christian principles and ethics upon which this nation was founded; scoffing at everything American and exalting everything collectivist.

Are other organizations doing the same work?

The National Council for American Education is the only organization specifically and exclusively opposing subversive influences in the schools and colleges on a national basis. Only one or two other organizations even attempt to deal with this condition, and they approach it as part of an overall program opposing Communism generally.

An important part of the work of the Council is to enlist other organizations to undertake similar activities as part of their program. The Council helps such organizations in every way possible.

Is the Council an active, effective organization?

Decidedly yes! You have undoubtedly observed the attention that has been paid the past year in the press and elsewhere to the deplorable situation in the nation's schools. A large part of this has been caused directly by the Council's activities.

NCAE is probably the fastest growing pro-American organization in the nation and is certainly one of the most aggressive. It has advanced rapidly to a place of national prominence, and its influence is increasing daily.

What has NCAE actually accomplished?

In its first year of active operation:

Approximately one million pieces of informative, pro-American literature were sent out.

Seven additional states began to investigate subversive activities in schools and colleges.

Numerous cities began investigations after the situation was disclosed to them.

Thousands of reviews of subversive textbooks were sent to school boards and interested officials, resulting in un-American textbooks being removed from schools in scores of cities.

Membership in the Council was extended to all 48 states.

The NCAE served as the spearhead of the successful (to date) fight against Federal "Aid" to Education.

NCAE influence began to be felt nationally — many important organizations, noted radio commentators and pro-American publications now cooperate with NCAE to fight Socialism and Communism in the schools.

What is the Council's program for the future?

NCAE's specific program for the next 12 months is to:

1. Review and evaluate as many additional textbooks as possible.
2. Publish the findings regarding each of the books reviewed.
3. Disseminate these reports on un-American textbooks to all who have to do with their selection, including the boards of education of all states, cities and counties.
4. Extend the work of the Council to cover every school in the United States — not only in the big cities and through the state superintendents, but into the country school houses — every place where children are taught.
5. Get local groups established in 500 additional communities. While much can be done and is being done by the Council on the national level, organization of local groups to attend to the subversive personnel in their communities is of primary importance.
6. Where investigations are not already under way, to get commissions appointed by governors, state legislatures and municipal officials to investigate and expose subversive teachings in the schools, and subversive activities on the part of teachers and professors.
7. Secure legislation in each state, which is without it, requiring teachers to take a non-communist oath.
8. Make mandatory the study of the Constitution and of American history in every state.
9. Campaign vigorously against Federal "Aid" to Education. The schools must be saved from control by government bureaucrats.
10. Publish additional lists of university professors who are affiliated with communist-front organizations and who have actively aided and abetted the cause of Communism and Socialism.

Are the members pleased with the Council?

Almost without exception, the members are enthusiastic about the Council's activities and accomplishments. You too will be proud of the part you as a member will have in the effective work of this dynamic organization.

Do the officers receive large salaries?

No officer or board member has ever received any remuneration, except that the secretary has received payment for clerical and stenographic work. Most of the officers and board members contribute financially to the organization, some of them substantially.

Who may join the Council?

Membership is limited to those Americans who desire to preserve American liberty and individual freedom.

How much does it cost to join?

As much or as little as you wish. You are the sole judge. There are no set dues — some members give little or no financial support, others contribute substantially. The actual cost of the reports, pamphlets and other literature sent to each member each year is over $10. Whatever you give, you will receive all of the material issued.

NCAE has made an excellent start in alerting people to the dangers that exist in America's schools, and in arousing patriots to action. But a start only has been made. The battle has just begun. To win will require the whole-hearted effort of every right-thinking, patriotic man and woman in America.

The situation is e x t r e m e l y serious. Effective measures m u s t be taken AT ONCE, lest we be too late.

Join this organization today and assist in every way you can. It is of vital importance.
